Abbreviated CV

Per Hedén was born in 1951. After completing medical training in Stockholm at the Karolinska Institute he entered his plastic surgery training program in 1978.

Dr. Hedén became one of the driving forces in establishing microsurgery in the region and this led to the first microsurgical operation in Stockholm, performed in 1981.

After completing his plastic surgery training in 1982, he held a plastic surgery position in Australia. He subsequently pursued plastic surgery research in the United States, first in Springfield, Illinois, and later at Harvard University in Boston.

His research, which dealt mostly with blood circulation and metabolism in skin flaps, led to his thesis, "Monitoring techniques and animal models as guides for free flap surgery," in 1988. After continuing his research he achieved an associate professorship at the Karolinska institute in 1990.

In 1990 after a period as a consultant position at Karolinska Hospital he became the head of the microsurgery unit at Sabbatsberg in 1990. He still have a devoted interest for microsurgical repair of facial paralyses and today patients from all of Sweden, and also some from abroad, are sent to Dr. Hedén for this kind of surgery.

Over the years he has published more than 50 scientific papers and held a large number of lectures. He has also been, and continues to be, an advisor for young plastic surgeons doing research.

In 1991 he founded Akademikliniken, which now is Scandinavia's largest private hospital exclusively for plastic surgery. More than 3,000 patients are treated. Dr Hedén has since its start been the Head of Akademikliniken.

At Akademikliniken a world leading experience in the use of anatomical cohesive silicone breast implants has been gained. Dr Hedén has developed new techniques applying to the use of these devices and he has held several international workshops on this subject.

He has been invited to many countries where he has performed operations to demonstrate his techniques. Besides lecturing at international congresses around the world Dr. Hedén is frequently invited as a guest surgeon to perform live surgery courses in all continents of the world, and has traveled extensively to hold instructional courses on breast surgery and non-surgical treatments with fillers and botulinum toxins. Dr. Hedén also holds instructional courses at Akademikliniken in Stockholm with live surgery on breast surgery, and has since 2005 educated over a hundred surgeons per year on his techniques. He has also held several live courses on injectables for facial rejuvenation, breast augmentation and fat grafting techniques at Akademikliniken throughout the years.

Dr. Hedén sits on the review board for doctoral theses in plastic surgery and has served as faculty opponent. He is regularly called on to review papers for publication in the Scandinavian journal of plastic surgery and is also on the Board of Reviewers for International Abstracts of the American journal Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery. Dr Hedén has written the book: "Plastic Surgery and You" published in Swedish 1996. It has since also been translated and published in English and Russian. The book is richly illustrated with over 700 photographs and drawings. It is printed and sold in 5000 copies in Sweden. The photographs of patients in this book show a few examples of what Dr. Hedén has accomplished over the years.
